CHARLEROI ATTAINS ITS MAJORITY; TOWN CELEBRATES 21ST BIRTHDAY

Place Which Was Two Decades Ago Wind-Swept Hillside Now Thriving Municipality

SOMETHING OF HISTORY

Pittsburg Platee Glass Company Announcement of Site Selection Starts Boom for Lot Sale

Twenty one years ago Charleroi was a wind swept hillside and low land swamp, with apparently little promise and a lot less interesting appearance; today it is a thriving municipality and as well known as any city in the country.

Today, Charleroi is old enough to vote. The first lot sale occurred on the place where imposing buildings now stand just 21 year ago to the minute. History of the town is known to every school boy. The Pittsburg Plate Glass company looking for a location for a new factory set upon the Charleroi site. The mere knowledge that the company was to locate here was a boom and when March 4, the date set for the sale of lots acquired by the Charleroi Land company from the late Robert McKean, arrived, many eager prospective buyers were on hands. A haystack occupied the center of the site. Lots were staked off and before long buildings began to rise like magic from the ground. Within a year the town had taken on undreamed proportions in that time, and the name, "Magic City" which had been bestowed upon it was remarkably fitting.

Still of remarkable growth Charleroi has expanded to the second largest municipality in Washington county. It is an ideal place for manufactories. It now produces plate glass, lamp glass and lenses, glass bottles, shovels, ornamental iron, wall plaster, brick and many other miner products. Several thousand men are employed in producing these articles and command an aggregate monthly pay of about $140,000.

Charleroi has produced many things, but the most notable is that of a Governor of Pennsylvania. There is not another town in the state, and doubtless not in the nation that has had during its first 21 years of existance produced a governor. It has been said that if there is anything Charleroi wants it gets, and it has been remarkably true within the past two decades.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Special Services to be Held Sunday Commemorating Organization of Body in 1891

HAS HAD FIVE PASTORS

Rev. Hackett One of Founders and Was the First Sunday School Superintendent in Church Building

Sunday will mark the 20th anniversary of the founding of the First Presbyterian church in Charleroi. Just 20 years ago today a band of 19 worshipers of the faith met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. N. W. Patton on Washington avenue and perfected an organization, which was designed to become in two decades one of the most progressive religious bodies in the community. Tomorrow the date will be fittingly commemorated by special services at the church.

Preceding the organization of the church by two months the Sunday School was organized and sesions held at Allen Hall, corner of Second street and McKean avenue, the building having since been destroyed by fire and replaced by the present Allen building. It was due largely to the efforts of Rev. Perrin Baker of Belle Vernon that the Sunday School was formed. Sunday School was thereafter held at different periods in Elwood hall and in Maxwell's Hall, a place now owned and used by the Baptist congregation. John Hackett, father of the present pastor of their church was one of the founders of the Sunday School and was later a member of the church building committee.

Soon after the Sunday School was founded the organization of a church was considered, and on March 5, 1891 a meeting was held at the Patten home and with the late Rev. Maxwell of Monongahela as moderator the church was begun. In a rapid growing community it wasn't long until the body began to feel the need of a church structure and a site was procured, and the contract awared for the construction of an edifice on Fifth street. This building was dedicated with somewhat imposing ceremonies the first Sunday in November of the same year the church had been organized, and just about three weeks after the first pastor, Rev. S. F. Farmer, now dead, had assumed charge. The Sunday School was continued, the first superintendent in the new church being the present pastor, Rev. J. T.

HUMPHRIES HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Former Charleroi Player Now With Philadelphia, Inhales Escaping Gas

IS RUSHED TO HIS HOTEL

Escaping gas came near being the end of Bert Humphries of California, one of the pitching staff of the Philadelphia National league team yesterday at Birmingham, Alabama. Humphries had taken a workout during the afternoon and was ordered to the clubhouse by Manager Dooin. The pitcher got his clothing removed and was under the shower bath when suddenly he keeled over and fainted dead away. In an unconscious state he was rustled to the hotel in an automobile and is now well on his way to recovery.

A WARNING TO OUR PATRONS

Do Not Be Decieved By Impostors, Be Sure You Are Right

To Our Friends—The Public:

Information has reached us that certain unknown individuals are peddling in Charleroi and vicinity with cheap, soddy, sweet shop clothing, offering them for cash or on credit and that they make it appear that they are in competition with our well known and old Reliable Peoples store of 536 Fallowfield Avenue Charleroi.

DO NOT BE MISLED

By the false and bombastic statements made by these cheap trixtures of being a millionaire concern and having stores in every city from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and other such exaggerated and meaningless assertions, which are evidently invented to fool the poor innocent working people.

THEY ARE THE WORLD'S GREATEST FAKIRS AND HERE IS THE PROOF: Upon a careful and thorough investigation, we find that this petty, irresponsible concern conducts only three small insignificant joints called credit stores, within the three neighboring states, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio. One in Wheeling in a second floor in a back room. One in McKeesport in a 2 by 4 upstairs room, and one in Youngstown which recently burned out and at one time, they attempted to establish socalled branch stores in Altoona and York, Pa., but the people of these two towns were wise and immediately recognized them and eventually forced them out of existance.

WHY TAKE CHANCES.

In buying unreliable clothing of strangers and of people about whom you know nothing. The slick agent and impostors may succeed to induce you to buy some of their clothing on

OLD OFFICERS ARE OUSTED FROM UNION

Miners Convention Expells President Feehan For Five Years---Irwin Strike is Endorsed

NEW MEN ARE CHOSEN FOR THE OFFICIAL POSITIONS

President Francis Feehan of the Pittsburg District, United Mine Workers, was expelled for a period of five years yesterday at a meeting in which was represented a majority of the votes of the organization. In his place was elected Robert R. Gibbons of Cecil, Pa. Serious charges were made at the conduct of his administration.

A resolution was adopted to inform President T. L. Lewis concerning what had been done in the convention.

The insurgent delegates voted to declare void the election of officers held last December and an entirely new set of officers and a new board was chosen. The miners' own recall system was worked rapidly and decisively A. Kephart of Carnegie was elected vice president to succeed Van Bittner and Steve Whetzell of Brownsville was elected secretary treasurer to succeed Timothy Donovan The Irwin strike was endorsed

Officers were chosen yesterday to serve until April 1 of next year.

First School Edifice Built in the Year 1892

Not only is Charleroi celebrating its 21st birthday today, but it it also celebrating the anniversary of the beginning of work on the Fifth street school building, 19 years ago. Work was begun in the spring of 1892on the structure, R. L. Barnhart being the architect. The school board consisted of J. C. McKean, president; Dr. J. K. Smith, secretary; C.E. Cummings, traesurer; C. M. Allen, N.M. Myers and I. N. Forsythe. Only a part of the building was erected in 1892 more being added a year or so later. It was necessary to start work on an entirely new building within about six years, the Ninth street building. Two other beautiful and commodious edifices have been put up since.

OLD TIME CONTEST

Fallowfield Township Folks Enjoy Spelling Bee

CAMBRIA GIRL WINNER

Rodgers School house in Fallowfield township was the scene of one of the most interesting affairs enjoyed by people of that vicinity for years last night, when an old-fashioned spelling bee was held. A large crowd was present and about 50 persons took part in the contest James Dolan and Lloyd Carson being leaders Excitement reigned when the contest narrowed down to two persons, Regina Hogue, of Loretta, Cambria county on the Dolan side and Miss Mary Callaghan of Fallowfield township on the Carson side and when the former came out victor she was accorded vigorous applause. Lloyd Minnick of Brownsville and Miss Rosetta Rodgers of Fallowfield township gave out the words and Mrs. Croupe of Belle Vernon acted as the referee.

Another Birthday

Today Charleroi attains its majority. Twenty one years ago occurred the first lot sale which marked the formal beginning of the Magic City. On that date the first transfers were made that set a pace in the building of towns in the Monongahela valley. Visitors to the town today are amazed at the transformation that has been wrought within the brief span of years that marks the civic age of an individual. The projectors and founders of Charleroi have just cause to be proud of their achievement.

Having attained its majority it is now up to the citizens of the town to show what the municipality can do in its vigorous young manhood. What has been accomplished thus far are but the achievements of youth. Now in the sober mindedness of experience, progressiveness and the battle for supremacy must go on. Other striplings of municipalites are in the race, and the real test of strength is yet to be waged. Charleroi must not be content to lay back on the oars with the assurance that the town is established. Cities and towns decay in their twentieth century for lack of intiative energy and progressiveness just as surely as they did in the days of ancient Greece and Rome.

Much is expected of the young man on the threshold of life who has just attained his majority. Charleroi is today in the same position

True Success

The most successful men are not necessarily the ones noisily attracting public attention says the Philadelphia Star. The best and most useful women are not the bright butterflies of fashion or the stage whose press agents incessantly flaunt ther pictures and their little nothings before the public.

The unlauded men and women who are quietly attending to their own little tasks every day contributing something substantial to industry, prosperity and progress, rearing children in habits of honest labor and right living and supplying examples that elevate the moral and intellectual level of their little communities—these are the men and women of real influence and power. Success is theirs in the fullest measure.

It is not given us all to have success as gorgeous as the rainbow. But no matter. Success consists in doing one's best. Indeed the real success is more in the trying than in the achievement. We may achieve by accident, by chance help of others or of forces that are not ours. But our efforts are all our own. It is our purposes and our efforts that are a part of our very selves.

Who can compute the debt of civilzation to obscure men and women who in their efforts to make the world a little brighter, and the better place to live in, have been too busy to make money or achieve fame.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A reader of the Mail, who is an admirer of the late Mark Twain hands in the following ancedotes of the great humorist with "leave to print" as they say in Congress:

When Mark Twain visited Germany he was "commanded" to dine with the Emperor. At the dinner the Emperor did most of the talking. A few days later a gentleman called upon the American author with a message from the Emperor: "Convey to Mr. Clemens my kindest regards Ask him if he remembers that dinner, and ask him why he didn't do any talking."

Mark explained in his Auto biography why he failed to give rein to his eloquence at the Emperor's table, using a story as an illustration:

"A man was approached by a friend who said: 'I think it's a shame that you have not spoken to your wife for fifteen years. How do you explain it How do you justify it

"'I didn't want to interrupt her,' said the poor man."

Mark Twain was first introduced to James McNeil Whistler in the latter's studio in London. He had heard that the artist was a great joker, and Mark prepared for anything in that line. He put on a hopelessly stupid air and drew near the canvas that Whistler was completing.

"That ain't bad," drawled the humorist; "it ain't bad. Only here in the corner"—headed as if to rub out a cloud effect in the corner "I'd do away with that cloud if I was you."

Whistler cried out nervously: "Gad, sir! be careful there! Don't you see the paint is not dry"

"Oh, that don't matter" said Mark; "I've got my gloves on"

Only a short time before his visit to England Mark Twain had had a meeting with the late Cecil Rhodes and during the course of an interview he was asked his opinion of the great South African statesman. He regarded the journalist in silence for a moment while he puffed vigorously at his cigar. At length he spoke.

"I regard Cecil Rhodes as a great man; as a typical Englishman and as one who knows exactly what he wants and how he is going to get it. When Cecil Rhodes dies"—and here he paused impressively—"I shall endeavor to get a bit of the rope as a memento."

It is said that the first paragraph Mark Twain wrote when he began his editorial duties with the Virginia City Enterprise was this: "A beautiful sunset made Beranger a poet; a mother's kiss made Benjamin West an artist and fifteen dollars a week makes us a journalist."

First Presbyterian Church Celebrate Twentieth Anniversary

Hackett.

Rev. Farmer occupied the pasturate for about three years. Succeeding pastors have been Rev. Charles Edwards, Rev. George Snodgrass, Rev. Morvin Custer and Rev. J. T. Hackett.

The First Presbyterian church was the second organized religious denomination in Charleroi. The Methodist was the first, and built the first church. Since the building of their church the former denomination has added to it and beautified the surroundings until it is a new church in appearance.

At the morning service Sunday Rev. Hackett will read a short history of the church from the date of its foundation, give a list of the charter members, a few of whom still live here and also a list of the elders and pastors who have served during the 20 year of history. The choir under direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel has prepared a special program for the occasion, and a special offering will be taken for improvement of the church. A picture of the first building occupied by the Sunday School will be shown Appropriate evening services will be held.

Charter members of the church were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKean, J. D. Wilson, Andrew McKean, Mrs. C. F. AMONG THE THEATRES

The Palace—Charleroi.

A leading feature at the Palace Theatre this week was a Melies photo-play showing a throbbing drama of western experience and blackhearted enmity. Jim, the cowpuncher is Billy's idea of what a man ought to be and becomes his faithful admirer and pal. Madge is the "angel" of the ranch. Jim loves her and she is not averse to his attentions. This arouse the jealously of a presumptuous Mexican who attempts to embrace Madge and is quickly knocked down and out by Jim.

The Mexican plots revenge and his villainy his is overheard by Billy. He notifies Madge and she rallies the cow boys together and leads them to the assistance of Jim who has been captured by the Mexican and his gang.

Madge and her friends arrive in the nick of time to save him from being crushed to death by rock which the fiends are about to a hurl upon him from the precipice above. Madge helps unloosen Jim's bonds. Billy puts in an appearance and when Madge tells Jim that the boy saved him, Jim grasps his hand and Billy is the happiest boy in all Texas.

"The Story the Gypsy Told" is a beautiful illustrated song rendered by Louis Brusa, and "Sunshine" by John Evans is also illustrated by beautiful slides. In the orchestra a string bass viol has been substiutted for the drums with pleasing effect.

The Coyle—Charleroi

Announced among the important offerings for the coming season is John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels which comes to the Coyle Theatre on Monday, March 6, inaugurating this company's fourteenth season. Manager Vogel has gotten together for this season a strong minstrel organization heading his vocalists with Mas ter Ray Wylie, whom he styles the "Male Tetrazzini" Mr. Vogel feels that he has discovered the greatest living male soprano in the world. Musical and vocal experts who have heard this young men agree that he is the possesor of a beautiful voice The old favorite Charley Gano, and ably supported by that talented comedian, Billy Burk, will fill the principal ends supplied with a budget of new jokes and songs. The vocalists will include many favorites and as in the past will be under the direction of Harry Lignton. The company's popularity warrants the production of a capacity house.

Master Ray Wylie,
Witn John W. Jogels Minstrels

The Alvin—Pittsburg

"Mother," the beatiiful play of home life, written by Jules Ecker Goodman, will be presented at the Alvin Theare next week. "Mother" is a proof that the so called decadence of the stage is a myth. It tells a story of home life, just as it is revealed behind the doors of many a house in the city, as well as in the country towns; it has its joys and its sorrws—it hasits family of children, some inherently strong and good, others weak and yielding, and led into crime and its attendant miseries—and it has the mother, the guiding angel of the little brood, loving her children in their sweetness and purity, but loving them no less when they have stumbled and fallen, and are in infinitely greater need of her love and care and protection.

"Mother" will be presented in Pittsburg by the original New York company. The regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given, popular prices prevailing Wednesday.

The Nixon—Pittsburg

Mrs. Fiske, America's foremost dramatic artist, will be seen in the greatest role of her career "Becky Sharp" at the Nixon Theatre, during the week of March 6, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday "Becky Sharp" in which Mrs. Fiske's realization of the "immortal Becky" stands as one of the most signal contributions that the American stage has known, is a dramatization of Thackery's famous novel, "Vanity Fair" made by Langdon Mitchell.

"Becky Sharp" is the most popular play in Mrs. Fiske's comprehensive repertoire, and her charactrization of Langdon Mitchell's heroine as drawn from Thackeray's brilliant figure, stands as one of the creatons which will be remembered as long as the history of dramatic part in America endures. It brings into play the best efforts of the famous Manhattan company, which includes Henry Stephenson, Leonard Shepherd, Charles Harbury, W. C. Andrews, Robert V. Ferguson, Reginald Warrington, R. Owen Meech, Gregory Kelly, Paul Scardon, Florine Arnold, Mary Maderna, Helena Van Brugh, Constance Jackson and numberous others.

Buying Food by Mail

A recent development of the mail order business is the buying by mail of food. This system was inaugurated in this section last fall by McCann and Co., of Pittsburg, who sold 10-pound pails of Butterine at $2.00 The effort was so successful that they have decided to extend their plan this year.

As before, they will send you a 10 pound pail of finest Creamery Butterine at $2.00. As this is regular 23c Butterine, and cheap at that; you save 30c on each order.

Offer No. 2 includes the 10-pound pail of Butterine and 5 lbs of 25c Coffee, which they ship for $3.00, saving you 55c on the order.

The third offer takes 10 lbs of Butterine, 5 lbs of 25c Coffee and 1 lb of 60c Tea all for $3.50, or a saving of 85 cents.

GETTING EXACT TIME.

A Very Simple Matter, According to This Man's Idea.

There is nothing like having one timepiece to correct the mistakes of another. Those people who keep a clock in every room of the house will no doubt be glad to learn of the expedient adopted by an old colored janitor in an office building in Chicago. One day a man whose office was under this janitor's charge asked him if he had the exact time. "Just a moment, sir," he said and pulled out a battered silver watch from a vest pocket, looked at it, put it back and then took a pencil out of another pocket and jotted down something on the back of an envelope.

Next he produced a second silver watch from his trousers pocket, looked at it and began to figure out something on the paper. By and by he said:

"When you asked, sir, it were jest twenty-seven minutes past 3—that's exact."

"Much obliged," said the other, who had been fingering his watch nervously. "But will you please tell me what you were doing all that arithmetic for?"

"Why, you see," said the old man, "this watch that I carry in my vest is a mighty good watch, only it gains ten minutes every day. And this one is a mighty good one, too, but it loses ten minutes every day. So I just look at them both and then strike an average. You'd be surprised, sir, to see what a simple matter it is."—Exchange.

THRASHING SERVANTS.

Domestic Life in England in the Time of Henry VIII.

In that remarkably minute chronicle of domestic life in England in the time of Henry VIII., Tusser's "Five Hundred Points of Good Husbandry," the learned and pious author seems to take it for granted that the only way of dealing with maidservants is to thrash them unmercifully.

He tells us in his inimitable doggerel that "a maid must be forced to be cleanly" or she is to be "made to cry creak." Mistresses are advised "to go about with a holly wand in their hand, although they may not always have occasion to use it, and to pay home when they fight"—that is to say, thrash—"but not to be always chiding." As regards the laundry, the domestic serfs are "warned to take heed when they wash or run in the ash and to wash well, wring well and beat well, so that if any lack beating it will be themselves."

As for the unhappy Cicely, the dairy maid, she is to cry "creak"—that is to say, to be thrashed—if her cheese is "hoven" or puffed up, and if the cheese be tough Cicely is to have "a crash." If the cheese be spotted Cicely is to be amended by the bayes, and if it be too full of whey the wretched dairymaid is to have "a dressing." Finally, if any maggots are found in the cheese, "mistress is to be Cicely by and by."

An Artist's Joke.

Holman Hunt, who began life as a clerk to an auctioneer and estate agent, was constantly drawing portraits when he should have been drawing up leases, and in his chosen profession he was never slow to seize the flying moment. The windows in his room were made of ground glass, and as he had little to do he spent much of his time in drawing flies upon its roughened surface. A blot of ink sufficed for the body and some delicate pencil strokes for the wings, and at a distance the deception was perfect. Day by day the number increased, and one morning his employer came in, stopped before the window and exclaimed: "I can't make out how it is. Every day that I come into this room there seem to be more and more flies." And, taking out his handkerchief, he attempted to brush them away.

BATHTUBS IN MEXICO.

Made of Cement, They Are a Real Luxury in a Hot Climate.

"Unless you have been in the tropics," remarked the man who had just returned from a trip to Mexico, "you can't possibly realize how great a luxury a cold bath can be. It's not that the climate is necessarily warmer than a New York summer, but the natives have worked out the problem of bathing to its ultimate conclusions. They have invented the ideal tub.

"On the great private estates in Mexico baths are in use today which were hewn out of the solid rock centuries ago by slave labor. They are located for the most part in the vicinity of running water and are fed by bamboo pipes, but in many cases they have to be filled by the old fashioned method of carrying a bucket to and from the spring.

"In the cities the so called stone baths are made of cement. The residences of all well to do people are provided with them, and they are a feature of the native hotels. They are usually about ten feet long by four deep—baby swimming tanks, in fact.

"The tropical custom is to fill the baths late at night. By the following morning the water will have acquired a limpid coolness that acts like a tonic upon the body. When one remembers that near the equator it is almost as warm in the morning as it is at noon and that water taken direct from the city mains is always tepid the advantage of the stone or cement bath is evident."—New York Sun.

Delhi and Its History.

Shah Jehan in 1631 built the present city of Delhi, close to the old Delhi, and made it the royal residence. The Mohammedans still call it Shahjehanabad, the "city of the king of the world." Nadir Shah, the Persian usurper, captured it in 1739, massacred thousands of the inhabitants and bore away plunder to the value of nearly $100,000,000, including the famous peacock throne and the great Kohinoor diamond. The British first came into control in 1803, when the Mahrattas were defeated near Delhi by Lord Lake. When the sepoy mutiny broke out in 1857 Shah Mohammed Bahadour, then ninety years old, took command of the city and until the English again triumphed enjoyed the imperial state to which he had long been a stranger.

Harriman Told Him.

Harriman had an almost supernatural instinct for knowing what was going on and who was doing it in the mysteries of stock manipulation. Once when Southern Pacific had been going up fast, Harriman and various banking houses buying in concert, he called up on the telephone one of his private brokers. "Somebody is selling," he said. "Yes, sir," was the answer. "Well, hand the market 25,000 for me." Immediately he called up the head of a banking firm much interested in the market. "Who's selling Southern Pacific?" he asked. "I don't know; we haven't been able to find out," was the answer. "I'll tell you," snapped Harriman; "it's your house." And he cut off the connection before any reply to him could be made.—Exchange.

Subbubs—Not much! He's sound as a dollar. But my wife tried to whip him for it, and now she's a nervous and physical wreck.—Catholic Standard and Times.

THE CHARLEROI MAIL

Entered second class mail at Charleroi, June 15, 1900, according to Act of Congress of March 3, 1879

VOL. XI. NO. 177. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA., SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1911. One Cent

CHARLEROI ATTAINS ITS MAJORITY; TOWN CELEBRATES 21ST BIRTHDAY

Place Which Was Two Decades Ago Wind-Swept Hillside Now Thriving Municipality

SOMETHING OF HISTORY

Pittsburg Platee Glass Company Announcement of Site Selection Starts Boom for Lot Sale

Twenty one years ago Charleroi was a wind swept hillside and low-land swamp, with apparently little promise and a lot less interesting appearance; today it is a thriving municipality and as well known as any city in the country.

Today, Charleroi is old enough to vote. The first lot sale occurred on the place where imposing buildings now stand just 21 year ago to the minute. History of the town is known to every school boy. The Pittsburg Plate Glass company looking for a location for a new factory set upon the Charleroi site. The mere knowledge that the company was to locate here was a boom and when March 4, the date set for the sale of lots acquired by the Charleroi Land company from the late Robert McKean, arrived, many eager prospective buyers were on hands. A haystack occupied the center of the site. Lots were staked off and before long buildings began to rise like magic from the ground. Within a year the town had taken on undreamed proportions in that time, and the name, "Magic City" which had been bestowed upon it was remarkably fitting.

Still of remarkable growth Charleroi has expanded to the second largest municipality in Washington county. It is an ideal place for manufactories. It now produces plate glass, lamp glass and lenses, glass bottles, shovels, ornamental iron, wall plaster, brick and many other minor products. Several thousand men are employed in producing these articles and command an aggregate monthly pay of about $140,000.

Charleroi has produced many things, but the most notable is that of a Governor of Pennsylvania. There is not another town in the state, and doubtless not in the nation that has had during its first 21 years of existance produced a governor. It has been said that if there is anything Charleroi wants it gets, and it has been remarkably true within the past two decades.

HUMPHRIES HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Former Charleroi Player Now With Philadelphia, Inhales Escaping Gas

IS RUSHED TO HIS HOTEL

Escaping gas came near being the end of Bert Humphries of California, one of the pitching staff of the Philadelphia National league team yesterday at Birmingham, Alabama. Humphries had taken a worksout during the afternoon and was ordered to the clubhouse by Manager Dooin. The pitcher got his clothing removed and was under the shower bath when suddenly he keeled over and fainted dead away. In an unconscious state he was nuetled to the hotel in an automobile and is now well on his way to recovery.

A WARNING TO OUR PATRONS

Do Not Be Decieved By Impostors, Be Sure You Are Right

To Our Friends—The Public:

Information has reached us that certain unknown individuals are peddling in Charleroi and vicinity with chap, soddy, sweet shop clothing, offering them for cash or on credit and that tney make it appear that they are in competition with our well known and old Reliable Peoples store of 536 Fallowfield Avenue Charleroi.

DO NOT BE MISLED

By the false and bombastic statements made by these cheap trixtures of being a millionaire concern and having stores in every city from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and other such exaggerated and meaningless assertions, which are evidently invented to fool the poor innocent working people.

THEY ARE THE WORLD'S GREATEST FAKIRS AND HERE IS THE PROOF: Upon a careful and thorough investigation, we find that this petty, irresponsible concern conducts only three small insignificant joints called credit stores, within the three neighboring states, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio. One in Wheeling in a second floor in a back room. One in McKeesport in a 2 by 4 upstairs room, and one in Youngstown which recently burned out and at one time, they attempted to establish socalled branch stores in Altoona and York, Pa., but the people of these two towns were wise and immediately recognized them and eventually forced them out of existance.

WHY TAKE CHANCES.

In buying unreliable clothing of strangers and of people about whom you know nothing. The slick agent and impostors may succeed to induce you to buy some of their clothing on

OLD OFFICERS ARE OUSTED FROM UNION

Miners Convention Expells President Feehan For Five Years---Irwin Strike is Endorsed

NEW MEN ARE CHOSEN FOR THE OFFICIAL POSITIONS

President Francis Feehan of the Pittsburg District, United Mine Workers, was expelled for a period of five years yesterday at a meeting in which was represented a majority of the votes of the organization. In his place was elected Robert R. Gibbons of Cecil, Pa. Serious charges were made at the conduct of his administration.

A resolution was adopted to inform President T. L. Lewis concerning what had been done in the convention.

The insurgent delegates voted to declare void the election of officers held last December and an entirely new set of officers and a new board was chosen. The miners' own recall system was worked rapidly and decisively A. Kephart of Carnegie was elected vice president to succeed Van Bittner and Steve Whetzell of Brownsville was elected secretary treasurer to succeed Timothy Donovan. The Irwin strike was endorsed.

First School Edifice Built in the Year 1892

Not only is Charleroi celebrating its 21st birthday today, but it it also celebrating the anniversary of the beginning of work on the Fifth street school building, 19 years ago. Work was begun in the spring of 1892on the structure, R. L. Barnhart being the architect. The school board consisted of J. C. McKean, president; Dr. J. K. Smith, secretary; C. E. Cummings, traesurer; C. M. Allen, N. M. Myers and I. N. Forsythe. Only a part of the building was erected in 1892, more being added a year or so later. It was necessary to start work on an entirely new building within about six years, the Ninth street building. Two other beautiful and commodious edifices have been put up since.

Excitement reigned when the contest narrowed down to two persons, Regina Hogue, of Loretta, Cambria county on the Dolan side nd Miss Mary Callaghan of Fallowfield township on the Carson side and when the former came out victor she was accorded vigorous applause. FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

HAS HAD FIVE PASTORS

Rev. Hackett One of Founders and Was the First Sunday School Superintendent in Church Building

Sunday will mark the 20th anniversary of the founding of the First Presbyterian church in Charleroi. Just 20 years ago today a band of 19 worshipers of the faith met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. N. W. Patton on Washington avenue and perfected an organization, which was designed to become in two decades one of the most progressive religious bodies in the community. Tomorrow the date will be fittingly commemorated by special services at the church.

Preceding the organization of the church by two months the Sunday School was organized and sesions held at Allen Hall, corner of Second street and McKean avenue, the building having since been destroyed by fire and replaced by the present Allen building. It was due largely to the efforts of Rev. Perrin Baker of Belle Vernon that the Sunday School was formed. Sunday School was thereafter held at different periods in Elwood hall and in Maxwell's Hall, a place now owned and used by the Baptist congregation. John Hackett, father of the present pastor of their church was one of the founders of the Sunday School and was later a member of the church building committee.

Soon after the Sunday School was founded the organization of a church was considered, and on March 5, 1891 a meeting was held at the Patton home and with the late Rev. Maxwell of Monongahela as moderator the church was begun. In a rapid growing community it wasn't long until the body began to feel the need of a church structure and a site was procured, and the contract awared for the construction of an edifice on Fifth street. This building was dedicated with somewhat imposing ceremonies the first Sunday in November of the same year the church had been organized, and just about three weeks after the first pastor, Rev. S. F. Farmer, now dead, had assumed charge. The Sunday School was continued, the first superintendent in the new church being the present pastor, Rev. J. T.

Another Birthday

Today Charleroi attains its majority. Twenty one years ago occurred the first lot sale which marked the formal beginning of the Magic City. On that date the first transfers were made that set a pace in the building of towns in the Monongahela valley. Visitors to the town today are amazed at the transformation that has been wrought within the brief span of years that marks the civic age of an individual. The projectors and founders of Charleroi have just cause to be proud of their achievement.

Having attained its majority it is now up to the citizens of the town to show what the municipality can do in its vigorous young manhood. What has been accomplished thus far ore but the achievements of youth. Now in the sober mindedness of experience, progressiveness and the battle for supremacy must go on. Other striplings of municipalites are in the race, and the real test of strength is yet to be waged. Charleroi must not be content to lay back on the oars with the assurance that the town is established. Cities and towns decay in their twentieth century for lack of intiative energy and progressiveness just as surely as they did in the days of ancient Greece and Rome.

Much is expected of the young man on the threshold of life who has just attained his majority. Charleroi is today in the same position.

True Success

The most successful men are not necessarily the ones noisily attracting public attention says the Philadelphia Star. The best and most useful women are not the bright butterflies of fashion or the stage whose press agents incessantly flaunt ther pictures and their little nothings before the public.

The unlauded men and women who are quietly attending to their own little tasks every day contributing something substantial to industry, prosperity and progress, rearing children in habits of honest labor and right living and supplying examples that elevate the moral and intellectual level of their little communities—these are the men and women of real influence and power. Success is theirs in the fullest measure.

It is not given us all to have success as gorgeous as the rainbow. But no matter. Success consists in doing one's best. Indeed the real success is more in the trying than in the achievement. We may achieve by accident, by chance help of others or of forces that are not ours. But our efforts are all our own. It is our purposes and our efforts that are a part of our very selves.

Who can compute the debt of civilzation to obscure men and women who in their efforts to make the world a little brighter, and the better place to live in, have been too busy to make money or achieve fame.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A reader of the Mail, who is an admirer of the late Mark Twain hands in the following ancedotes of the great humorist with "leave to print" as they say in Congress:

When Mark Twain visited Germany he was "commanded" to dine with the Emperor. At the dinner the Emperor did most of the talking. A few days later a gentleman called upon the American author with a message from the Emperor: "Convey to Mr. Clemens my kindest regards Ask him if he remembers that dinner, and ask him why he didn't do any talking."

Mark explained in his Auto biography why he failed to give rein to his eloquence at the Emperor's table, using a story as an illustration:

"A man was approached by a friend who said: 'I think it's a shame that you have not spoken to your wife for fifteen years. How do you explain it How do you justify it

"'I didn't want to interrupt her,' said the poor man."

Mark Twain was first introduced to James McNeil Whistler in the latter's studio in London. He had heard that the artist was a great joker, and Mark prepared for anything in that line. He put on a hopelessly stupid air and drew near the canvas that Whistler was completing.

"That ain't bad," drawled the humorist; "it ain't bad. Only here in the corner"—headed as if to rub out a cloud effect in the corner "I'd do away with that cloud if I was you."

Whistler cried out nervously: "Gad, sir! be careful there! Don't you see the paint is not dry"

"Oh, that don't matter" said Mark; "I've got my gloves on"

Only a short time before his visit to England Mark Twain had had a meeting with the late Cecil Rhodes and during the course of an interview he was asked his opinion of the great South African statesman. He regarded the journalist in silence for a moment while he puffed vigorously at his cigar. At length he spoke.

"I regard Cecil Rhodes as a great man; as a typical Englishman and as one who knows exactly what he wants and how he is going to get it. When Cecil Rhodes dies"—and here he paused impressively—"I shall endeavor to get a bit of the rope as a memento."

It is said that the first paragraph Mark Twain wrote when he began his editorial duties with the Virginia City Enterprise was this: "A beautiful sunset made Beranger a poet; a mother's kiss made Benjamin West an artist and fifteen dollars a week makes us a journalist."

First Presbyterian Church Celebrate Twentieth Anniversary

Hackett.

Rev. Farmer occupied the pastorate for about three years. Succeeding pastors have been Rev. Charles Edwards, Rev. George Snodgrass, Rev. Morvin Custer and Rev. J. T. Hackett.

The First Presbyterian church was the second organized religious denomination in Charleroi. The Methodist was the first, and built the first church. Since the building of their church the former denomination has added to it and beautified the surroundings until it is a new church in appearance.

At the morning service Sunday Rev. Hackett will read a short history of the church from the date of its foundation, give a list of the charter members, a few of whom still live here and also a list of the elders and pastors who have served during the 20 year of history. The choir under direction of Prof I. T. Daniel has prepared a special program for the occasion, and a special offering will be taken for improvement of the church. A picture of the first building occupied by the Sunday School will be shown Appropriate evening services will be held.

Charter members of the church were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKean, J D Wilson, Andrew McKean, Mrs C. AMONG THE THEATRES

The Palace—Charleroi.

A leading feature at the Palace Theatre this week was a Melies photoplay showing a throbbing drama of western experience and blackhearted enmity. Jim, the cowpuncher is Billy's idea of what a man ought to be and becomes his faithful admirer and pal. Madge is the "angel" of the ranch. Jim loves her and she is not averse to his attentions. This arouse the jealously of a presumptuous Mexican who attempts to embrace Madge and is quickly knocked down and out by Jim.

The Mexican plots revenge and his villainy his is overheard by Billy. He notifies Madge and she rallies the cow boys together and leads them to the assistance of Jim who has been captured by the Mexican and his gang

Madge and her friends arrive in the nick of time to save him from being crushed to death by rock which the fiends are about to a hurl upon him from the precipice above. Madge helps unloosen Jim's bonds. Billy puts in an appearance and when Madge tells Jim that the boy saved him, Jim grasps his hand and Billy is the happiest boy in all Texas.

"The Story the Gypsy Told" is a beautiful illustrated song rendered by Louis Brusa, and "Sunshine" by John Evans is also illustrated by beautiful slides. In the orchestra a string bass viol has been substiutted for the drums with pleasing effect.

The Coyle—Charleroi

Announced among the important offerings for the coming season is John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels which comes to the Coyle Theatre on Monday, March 6, inaugurating this company's fourteenth season. Manager Vogel has gotten together for this season a strong minstrel organization heading his vocalists with Mas

Master Ray Wylie,
Witn John W. Jogels Minstrels

ter Ray Wylie, whom he styles the "Male Tetrazzini." Mr. Vogel feels that he has discovered the greatest living male soprano in the world. Musical and vocal experts who have heard this young men agree that he is the possesor of a beautiful voice The old favorite Charley Gano, and ably supported by that talented comedian, Billy Burk, will fill the principal ends supplied with a budget of new jokes and songs. The vocalists will include many favorites and as in the past will be under the direction of Harry Lignton. The company's popularity warrants the production of a capacity house.

The Alvin—Pittsburg

"Mother," the beatiful play of home life, written by Jules Ecker Goodman, will be presented at the Alvin Theare next week. "Mother" is a proof that the so called decadence of the stage is a myth. It tells a story of home life, just as it is revealed behind the doors of many a house in the city, as well as in the country towns; it has its joys and its sorrws—it hasits family of children, some inherently strong and good, others weak and yielding, and led into crime and its attendant miseries—and it has the mother, the guiding angel of the little brood, loving her children in their sweetness and purity, but loving them no less when they have stumbled and fallen, and are in infinitely greater need of her love and care and protection.

"Mother" will be presented in Pittsburg by the original New York company. The regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given, popular prices prevailing Wednesday.

The Nixon—Pittsburg

Mrs. Fiske, America's foremost dramatic artist, will be seen in the greatest role of her career "Becky Sharp" at the Nixon Theatre, during the week of March 6, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday "Becky Sharp" in which Mrs. Fiske's realization of the "immortal Becky" stands as one of the most signal contributions that the American stage has known, is a dramatization of Thackery's famous novel, "Vanity Fair" made by Langdon Mitchell.

"Becky Sharp" is the most popular play in Mrs. Fiske's comprehensive repertoire, and her charactrization of Langdon Mitchell's heroine as drawn from Thackeray's brilliant figure, stands as one of the creatons which will be remembered as long as the history of dramatic part in America endures. It brings into play the best efforts of the famous Manhattan company, which includes Henry Stephenson, Leonard Shepherd, Charles Harbury, W. C. Andrews, Robert V. Ferguson, Reginald Warrington, R. Owen Meech, Gregory Kelly, Paul Scardon, Florine Arnold, Mary Madern, Helena Van Brugh, Constance Jackson and numberous others.

Buying Food by Mail

A recent development of the mail order business is the buying by mail of food. This system was inaugurated in this section last fall by McCann and Co., of Pittsburg, who sold 10-pound pails of Butterine at $2.00 The effort was so successful that they have decided to extend their plan this year.

As before, they will send you a 10 pound pail of finest Creamery Butterine at $2.00. As this is regular 23c Butterine, and cheap at that; you save 30c on each order.

Offer No. 2 includes the 10-pound pail of Butterine and 5 lbs of 25c Coffee, which they ship for $3.00, saving you 55c on the order.

The third offer takes 10 lbs of Butterine, 5 lbs of 25c Coffee and 1 lb of 60c Tea all for $3.50, or a saving of 95 cents.

A fourth offer includes the 10 lbs of Butterine and 3 lbs. of 40c Tea at $3.00, or a saving of 50c. Take your choice of Ceylon, English Breakfast, Assam, Olong, Japan or Young Hyson teas.

These values are guaranteed and are certain to please you. Send cash for a trial order to McCann and Co., Pittsburg, Pa. They pay express charges to Charleroi and vicinity.

GETTING EXACT TIME.

A Very Simple Matter, According to This Man's Idea.

There is nothing like having one timepiece to correct the mistakes of another. Those people who keep a clock in every room of the house will no doubt be glad to learn of the expedient adopted by an old colored janitor in an office building in Chicago. One day a man whose office was under this janitor's charge asked him if he had the exact time. "Just a moment, sir," he said and pulled out a battered silver watch from a vest pocket, looked at it, put it back and then took a pencil out of another pocket and jotted down something on the back of an envelope.

Next he produced a second silver watch from his trousers pocket, looked at it and began to figure out something on the paper. By and by he said:

"When you asked, sir, it were jest twenty-seven minutes past 3—that's exact."

"Much obliged," said the other, who had been fingering his watch nervously. "But will you please tell me what you were doing all that arithmetic for?"

"Why, you see," said the old man, "this watch that I carry in my vest is a mighty good watch, only it gains ten minutes every day. And this one is a mighty good one, too, but it loses ten minutes every day. So I just look at them both and then strike an average. You'd be surprised, sir, to see what a simple matter it is."—Exchange.

THRASHING SERVANTS.

Domestic Life In England In the Time of Henry VIII.

In that remarkably minute chronicle of domestic life in England in the time of Henry VIII., Tusser's "Five Hundred Points of Good Husbandry," the learned and pious author seems to take it for granted that the only way of dealing with maidservants is to thrash them unmercifully.

He tells us in his inimitable doggerel that "a maid must be forced to be cleanly" or she is to be "made to cry creak." Mistresses are advised "to go about with a holly wand in their hand, although they may not always have occasion to use it, and to pay home when they fight"—that is to say, thrash—"but not to be always chiding." As regards the laundry, the domestic serfs are "warned to take need when they wash or run in the ash and to wash well, wring well and beat well, so that if any lack beating it will be themselves."

As for the unhappy Cicely, the dairymaid, she is to cry "creak"—that is to say, to be thrashed—if her cheese is "hoven" or puffed up, and if the cheese be tough Cicely is to have "a crash." If the cheese be spotted Cicely is to be amended by the bayes, and if it be too full of whey the wretched dairymaid is to have "a dressing." Finally, if any maggots are found in the cheese, "mistress is to be Cicely by and by."

An Artist's Joke.

Holman Hunt, who began life as a clerk to an auctioneer and estate agent, was constantly drawing portraits when he should have been drawing up leases, and in his chosen profession he was never slow to seize the flying moment. The windows in his room were made of ground glass, and as he had little to do he spent much of his time in drawing flies upon its roughened surface. A blot of ink sufficed for the body and some delicate pencil strokes for the wings, and at a distance the deception was perfect. Day by day the number increased, and one morning his employer came in, stopped before the window and exclaimed: "I can't make out how it is. Every day that I come into this room there seem to be more and more flies." And, taking out his handkerchief, he attempted to brush them away.

"Unless you have been in the tropics," remarked the man who had just returned from a trip to Mexico, "you can't possibly realize how great a luxury a cold bath can be. It's not that the climate is necessarily warmer than a New York summer, but the natives have worked out the problem of bathing to its ultimate conclusions. They have invented the ideal tub.

"On the great private estates in Mexico baths are in use today which were hewn out of the solid rock centuries ago by slave labor. They are located for the most part in the vicinity of running water and are fed by bamboo pipes, but in many cases they have to be filled by the old fashioned method of carrying a bucket to and from the spring.

"In the cities the so called stone baths are made of cement. The residences of all well to do people are provided with them, and they are a feature of the native hotels. They are usually about ten feet long by four deep—baby swimming tanks, in fact.

"The tropical custom is to fill the baths late at night. By the following morning the water will have acquired a limpid coolness that acts like a tonic upon the body. When one remembers that near the equator it is almost as warm in the morning as it is at noon and that water taken direct from the city mains is always tepid the advantage of the stone or cement bath is evident."—New York Sun.

Delhi and Its History.

Shah Jehan in 1631 built the present city of Delhi, close to the old Delhi, and made it the royal residence. The Mohammedans still call it Shahjehanabad, the "city of the king of the world." Nadir Shah, the Persian usurper, captured it in 1739, massacred thousands of the inhabitants and bore away plunder to the value of nearly $100,000,000, including the famous peacock throne and the great Kohinoor diamond. The British first came into control in 1803, when the Mahrattas were defeated near Delhi by Lord Lake. When the sepoy mutiny broke out in 1857 Shah Mohammed Bahadour, then ninety years old, took command of the city and until the English again triumphed enjoyed the imperial state to which he had long been a stranger.

Harriman Told Him.

Harriman had an almost supernatural instinct for knowing what was going on and who was doing it in the mysteries of stock manipulation. Once when Southern Pacific had been going up fast, Harriman and various banking houses buying in concert, he called up on the telephone one of his private brokers. "Somebody is selling," he said. "Yes, sir," was the answer. "Well, hand the market 25,000 for me." Immediately he called up the head of a banking firm much interested in the market. "Who's selling Southern Pacific?" he asked. "I don't know; we haven't been able to find out," was the answer. "I'll tell you," snapped Harriman; "it's your house." And he cut off the connection before any reply to him could be made.—Exchange.

The Tough Kid.

Nabor—I saw the doctor at your house yesterday.

Subbubs—Yes; that boy of mine climbed up on the porch when he was told not to, and—

Nabor—Ah, I see. He fell and broke his—

Subbubs—Not much! He's sound as a dollar. But my wife tried to whip him for it, and now she's a nervous and physical wreck.—Catholic Standard and Times.

HAVE YOU TRIED PAXTINE

The Great Toilet Germicide?

You don't have to pay 50c or $1.00 a pint for listerian antiseptics or peroxide. You can make 16 pints of a more cleansing, germicidal, healing and deodorizing antiseptic solution with one 25c box of Paxtine,—a soluble antiseptic powder, obtainable at any drug store.

Paxtine destroys germs that cause disease, decay and odors,—that is why it is the best mouth wash and gargle, and why it purifies the breath, cleanses and preserves the teeth better than ordinary dentifrices, and in sponge bathing it completely eradicates perspiration and other disagreeable body odors. Every dainty woman appreciates this and its many other toilet and hygienic uses.

Paxtine is splendid for sore throat, inflamed eyes and to purify mouth and breath after smoking. You can get Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic at any drug store, price 25c and 50c, or by mail postpaid from The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass., who will send you a free sample if you would like to try it before buying.
